Comment: Had no obvious excuse when ninth at Bairnsdale last start, beaten seven and a half lengths after settling back and only working home fairly. The move from country grade into a harder meeting asks more, though her Pakenham Synthetic fifth prior was better when she charged home from the rear and was beaten just under four lengths. Her Pakenham run gives some minor hope, but she profiles more as a place chance.

Comment: Makes her debut with a sound grounding, having trialled three times at Flemington and most recently finishing a close second. The Ben, Will & JD Hayes stable has a 17% debut strike rate from the supplied figures, and Damien Thornton is a capable booking for a first starter. Drawn wide, but the stable profile gives her strong claims first time out.

Comment: Went much better at Moe last start, finishing third and beaten a length after settling back before being steadied near the 2f. That was country company and this is harder, while her previous run at Kyneton was plain when tenth in a Mdn and beaten nine and a half lengths. Has to lift again.

Comment: Began awkwardly and made limited ground when sixth at Echuca last start, beaten just under five lengths after starting an outside chance in the betting. She was at big odds and safely held at Kilmore the run prior, with only late traffic adding some context. Place at best.

Comment: Produced the right closing run at Bendigo last start, finishing second in a Mdn and beaten just under a length after being held up near the 1 1/2f. She had also been hampered at the start before running fifth there over 6 1/2f on soft ground, so there is substance in both recent efforts. Brings the strongest exposed profile, go close.

Comment: Shaped fairly on debut at Kilmore, finishing fourth and beaten three and a half lengths after being slow to begin and laying out around the home turn. She was near the top of an open market, so there was some expectation, and second-up improvement is possible from a $40,000 yearling purchase. Better now and up in trip should suit.

Comment: Started at big odds on debut at Ballarat but was not disgraced, finishing fifth and beaten two and a half lengths after being close enough on the turn without quickening. The $400,000 yearling purchase now has race experience, and Patrick Moloney takes the ride for Matt Laurie. Open to improvement second-up and holds place claims.

Comment: Has been well held in both starts, finishing ninth in a Bendigo Mdn last start when beaten nine and a half lengths after settling back and making no impression. Her debut at Cranbourne was even harder to recommend, finishing last and beaten over 16 lengths after a slow beginning. Hasn't shown enough.

Comment: Had genuine traffic trouble on debut at Cranbourne, held up until near the 1f before finishing ninth and beaten just under ten lengths. That makes the margin easier to understand, but she was still well beaten and now tackles around 1m for the first time. First go around 1m and must improve.

Comment: Returns from a five-week freshening after a debut ninth at Ballarat, where she began slowly, conceded a big start and was beaten just over four lengths. The margin was not disastrous, and the Moody-Coleman yard can improve one with experience, but she has not raced around 1m before. Would prefer to see again.

Comment: Closed off strongly for third at Kyneton last start, beaten just under a length on soft ground after being held up from the 1 1/2f and again near the 5f. Her Geelong fifth prior in a F Mdn was less convincing after racing wide throughout, but that excuse is relevant. Heading the right way and D Lane on is a good lead.

Comment: Returns from a four-month break after finishing eighth on debut in a Mdn at Sale, beaten six and a half lengths on heavy ground when at long odds. She did make some late ground from well back, but was never a serious factor. Debut was plain at Sale, so improvement is required to trouble these.

Comment: Makes her debut after three Flemington trials, the latest a fourth over 4f last month. Simon Zahra has had debut winners from a modest sample, and the family has produced city winner Le Ferrari, but there is no race form to properly anchor her against several with stronger exposed or trial profiles. Hard to rate above the main hopes without race experience.

Comment: Returns from a five-month break after finishing fourth at Cranbourne, beaten four lengths after pressing forward and weakening late. The run prior was a much sharper third at Geelong, beaten a neck at big odds in a Mdn, and she has since had two trials, latest a third at Mornington. Should be ready to run well fresh.

Comment: Starts her career with a Pakenham trial win behind her, which is the right sort of lead-in for a debutante in a maiden with mixed exposed form. The Ben, Will & JD Hayes stable has a sound debut record, and the family includes winners around 5 1/2f to 6f. Brings one of the better first-starter profiles and can run very well.

Comment: Worked into third at Avoca last start, but was still beaten just over seven lengths in country grade after being hampered mid-race. Her debut at Pakenham Synthetic was only fair when sixth, beaten four and a half lengths. Place hope.

Comment: Finished last at Geelong first-up, beaten over 12 lengths in a Mdn after racing three-wide without cover throughout. That gives her some excuse, but she was unwanted in the market and also well held on debut in Open grade at Cranbourne. Blinkers go on and barrier four helps but needs to lift.

Comment: Makes her debut from barrier one after four trials, most recently a fifth at Camperdown over 5f. There is not a great deal in the trial record to push her ahead of the better-credentialed first starters, and the stable's small debut sample is limited. Likely to require the race experience.

Comment: Produced the best exposed form in the race when second at Kyneton first-up, beaten a length after racing wide without cover and still giving a strong sight as the short odds-on favourite. She was also third on debut at Bendigo, beaten just under two lengths as a well-supported favourite. Second-up, she looks the one to beat for strong connections.

Comment: Returns from a four-month break after a difficult first campaign in stronger Caulfield races. She was last in a F Open before the spell, beaten over 12 lengths at long odds, though stewards noted she was slow away and held up near the 1/2f. The prior form is still modest, so she has to lift.

Comment: Debuts as a NZ$80,000 Karaka purchase and a full sister to G1 winner Pasadena Girl, so the pedigree clearly gives her appeal. Her three Pakenham trials have been steady rather than flashy, with a fifth in the latest, and the stable's debut strike rate is modest. Trials are steady but respecting key jockey booking.

Comment: Begins her career after three trials, the latest an eighth at Mornington over 4 1/2f. She is a $25,000 yearling purchase from a family that has produced debut performers, including Sweet Jazz and Dane On Tour, but the immediate trial evidence is only moderate. Looks one for later rather than a strong winning hope.

Comment: Was fourth on debut at Kilmore, beaten five and a half lengths after tracking the speed and failing to finish off. She had won an earlier Sandown-Hillside trial, and first-time blinkers could sharpen her second-up, while the Laurie stable has strong figures with this sire. Has some upside, but the main hopes bring stronger form.

Comment: Finished fourth at Sale last start, beaten just under two lengths by Armorware after settling rearward and not quite quickening when required. That followed a sound Cranbourne fifth in a Mdn where he worked home evenly after racing wide. Knocking on the door and should take beating.

Comment: Debuts with first-time blinkers and comes off a latest close third at Pakenham, so there is enough trial evidence to suggest he has been given a reasonable grounding. Thomas Stockdale is a strong booking at this track, which helps the profile. Watch market, but race experience is against him.

Comment: Was seventh first-up at Cranbourne, beaten just over six lengths after beginning slowly, racing ungenerously and hanging at different stages. His Pakenham run before the break was only fair at long odds, though he has at least placed at this track and at the trip. Fitter but has a bit to find.

Comment: Continued a remarkably consistent maiden record when third at Bairnsdale on soft ground, beaten two and a half lengths after travelling well behind the leaders. He had earlier run second at Kilmore, and seven placings from seven starts underline his reliability. Continues to race well and should be right there.

Comment: Boxed on fairly on debut at Seymour when seventh, beaten just over seven lengths, after racing handy and having no obvious excuse. He had shown some trial ability before that, including a 5f Cranbourne trial win, and his pedigree has depth through Morton's Fork. Place hope with improvement.

Comment: Debuts for a stable with a solid local profile and has had four trials, including a Mornington trial win earlier in October before a fourth there two weeks ago. He was a $110,000 yearling purchase, so there is some profile to work with, though no race form means the assessment has to remain measured. Respecting if the market likes him.

Comment: Made a pleasing debut when third at Echuca over 5f, beaten two and a half lengths by Daynes Dahwun after travelling well enough and working home evenly. He is a $375,000 yearling purchase and had a Mornington trial win before racing, so there is scope in the profile. Tough draw but should improve with claims.

Comment: Produced an improved second run when fourth at Cranbourne, beaten just over four lengths after covering ground early, being held up near the 1f and keeping on. His debut sixth at Caulfield Heath came in a CG Mdn when unwanted in the market, so he has already moved forward. Showing ability and is in the mix.

Comment: Returns from a five-month break after finishing fourth on debut at Bendigo, beaten just over three lengths by Sharaz on soft ground after settling rearward and improving into the race. He has had two trials since, the latest a close second at Pakenham, which points to a suitable level of readiness. Debut fourth reads well enough to go close fresh with natural improvement.

Comment: Debuts after four trials, the latest a close third at Mornington, so he has had a proper education before race day. The $50,000 yearling purchase also has a useful family note through Feminino, a G3 winner, but the stable's limited debut strike rate keeps the assessment conservative. Prefer to see for now.

Comment: Finished ninth first-up at Cranbourne, beaten just under nine lengths at long odds despite a couple of checks during the run. Her previous start was much worse, beaten over 14 lengths on heavy ground, and the broader record of no wins from 23 starts is difficult to overlook. Barrier one helps, but a major form turnaround is required.

Comment: Resumes after a six-month break with two trials behind her, including a latest close second at Flemington, which is a useful readiness pointer. Her first campaign had merit without producing a placing, with a debut fifth at Pakenham and a Bendigo sixth where she was beaten just over three lengths after covering ground. Place claims fresh.

Comment: Finished last at Bairnsdale first-up, beaten over 14 lengths by Japanese Moka after settling rearward and making no ground. That followed an older Kyneton run where she was beaten over 10 lengths, so the pattern is not encouraging. The 7lbs claim is not enough to offset the form.

Comment: Worked home from well back when fifth at this track last start, beaten five lengths by Deadly Force after jumping awkwardly. This is an easier meeting than that metro assignment, but he was also well held at Bendigo two back and remains unplaced from five starts. Risking.

Comment: Resumes after five months following a plain Sale run where she travelled handy, led to the turn and faded to finish second last, beaten seven and a half lengths, after being unwanted in the market. The Ballarat run prior in a Mdn was no stronger, beaten over 10 lengths after being slow to begin. Has to find a new level fresh.

Comment: Was safely held first-up at Bendigo, settling just off the lead before fading to seventh, beaten just over nine lengths, in a country race that looks easier than this meeting. Her Ballarat run before the break was also only fair, but she has placed three times from eight starts around 5f and gets a 4lbs claim. Can improve but needs to.

Comment: Makes her debut with two trials behind her, the latest a Burrumbeet win over 5f last month. There is also some family substance through Byron Eyes, a five-time winner, and Avoid The Misstres, who won on debut, but the stable debut sample is small and the race-day standard is still unknown. Prefer to see this one.

Comment: Returns from a lengthy spell after a sound debut third at Albury, where she was near the top of betting and beaten just under three lengths by Complaisance over 5 7/8f. She has since changed trainer and won a Pakenham Synthetic trial last week, which is a useful readiness sign. Has upside against a few of these.

Comment: Returns from a two-month let-up with a better case than the Ballarat ninth suggests, as she raced wide throughout before finishing just over nine lengths from Superbec. Her previous Sale second in a Mdn was strong, beaten a neck after a slow start and interference near the 1 1/4f. Can bounce back here.

Comment: Debuts for Simon Zahra off three trials, with the two Flemington hit-outs most relevant: second on October 16 and a close third a week later. The stable has won with three of 19 debut runners in the supplied sample, and the Shalaa mare draws well in barrier three. Should be ready to go.

Comment: Back from a six-month break after ending last campaign with a seventh in a Kilmore Mdn, beaten seven and a half lengths after jumping awkwardly. The Geelong run prior was weaker again when last, beaten over 13 lengths in a F Mdn, but she has since won a Cranbourne trial and draws barrier two. Place at best.

Comment: Led on debut at Ballarat in a F Mdn but was claimed soon after straightening and faded to finish second last, beaten just over nine lengths, after starting at generous odds. She has since won a Flemington trial, so there is some scope to be sharper second-up, yet the race-day evidence was plain and offered no obvious excuse. Can improve second-up, but the race form must rise sharply.

Comment: Worked home from the rear for fourth at this track last start, beaten five lengths by Deadly Force after beginning slowly, and that was a more encouraging effort than her Moe fifth when she was beaten just over nine lengths. She is third-up and race fit, but remains unplaced from three starts around 5f and returns quickly after 10 days. Can improve again and is in the mix.

Comment: Was fourth at Cranbourne in a Mdn last start, beaten six lengths at big odds after being caught wide early, which gives the run some merit. Two back at Donald she was last, beaten eight and a half lengths, after racing three wide without cover. Barrier 15 makes the task even harder.

Comment: Starts her career with three Mornington or Sandown-Hillside trials behind her, but the most recent was only sixth over 4 1/2f at Mornington two weeks ago. The trainer debut sample has produced two placings from six starters, which is some background support, yet there is no standout trial result to lean on. Drawn well, watch the betting.

Comment: Resumes after six months with two trial wins since last racing, including a Mornington trial a few weeks ago, so she has at least been sharpened for the return. Her race form is the issue: eighth at Pakenham before the break, beaten nine and a half lengths after racing keenly and laying out, followed a heavy-track fifth beaten over 13 lengths. Race form leaves a lot to be desired.

Comment: Debuts after winning a Moe trial over 3 3/8f two weeks ago, which gives her a positive starting point. She cost $700 and is a half-sister to Rue De Palais, a city winner at Launceston and Hobart, while Kensington Diva placed on debut over 5f. Prefer to see.

Comment: Returns from a three-month break after a plain finish at Sandown-Hillside, where she was last in a FM BM74 on heavy ground and beaten over 14 lengths after fading right out. Her Morphettville fourth in BM64 grade before that was much sounder, beaten just over two lengths after racing keenly. Sandown-Hillside flop was poor, but her 5f record gives her an each way hope.

Comment: Returns from a six-month spell with reliable 5f form behind her, including four wins and three places from 15 starts at the distance. She was fifth in a FM BM70 at Caulfield Heath before the break, beaten just under three lengths at long odds, and her Cranbourne second in BM66 grade had merit after racing wide throughout. Handy mare on her day and can run well fresh.

Comment: Arrives in winning form after putting away Bella Cinque by just over two lengths in a BM56 at this track, travelling smoothly and quickening clear. That followed a five-length Mdn win at Mildura, so confidence is high, and the 4lbs claim helps offset the tougher assignment. Rises from BM56 grade, but race fitness and the 4lbs claim keep her in play.

Comment: Returns from a six-month spell with only two race starts behind her, so there is still some upside if she is forward enough. She was seventh in a BM62 at Werribee before the break, beaten three and a half lengths after racing wide, while her debut win at this track came at big odds in a Mdn. Market best guide fresh from the tricky gate.

Comment: Returns from a five-week freshening after an excellent first-up third in BM66 grade at Cranbourne, where she was bumped early, settled back and still finished strongly to be beaten just over a length by Magnabelle Royale. Her distance record is a major strength, with one win and four places from five starts at 5f, and she has placed in all six career runs. Proven at 5f, sharper now and looks exceptionally placed from the gate.

Comment: Returns from a five-week freshening after finishing last in the G3 Scarborough Stakes, beaten over 15 lengths after being slow away and weakening out of it. Her Sandown-Hillside sixth in BM66 grade before that had more merit, with some late traffic after settling back. Back in grade for this and she can bounce back.

Comment: Returns from an eight-month spell after a Pakenham seventh over 7f, where she was unwanted in the market and failed to quicken when beaten three and a half lengths. She did win a Pakenham trial two weeks ago, which suggests some readiness, but her two previous 5f attempts have produced no placings. Market best guide.

Comment: Was well found first-up at Seymour but began slowly and could only finish sixth, beaten just over five lengths by Parcae. The move from country grade to a harder meeting asks more, yet her Caulfield Heath run in BM64 company before the break was better than it looks, charging home from well back to be beaten just over two lengths. Can do better second up given the support fresh.

Comment: Has struggled in two runs this campaign, finishing second last at this track before a Seymour tenth where she was beaten eight lengths at big odds. She did cover ground there, but there was no strong excuse and Bel Lupa had her measure in the same race. Needs to lift.

Comment: Was last in a BM56 at this track 10 days ago, beaten six and a half lengths by Ilovediamonds after settling back and never threatening. She rises from BM56 grade and her longer-term profile is a concern, with no placings from 13 starts in the past 12 months. Recent record makes her hard to recommend.

Comment: Has been holding form strongly in black-type company, finishing third in the Listed Seymour Cup at Seymour after beginning awkwardly and being beaten just over a length by Wymark. The run prior was another solid third in the Listed Testa Rossa Stakes at Caulfield, where he was an outside chance in the betting but finished within a length and a half of Regal Zeus. First-time blinkers go on and his 1m record is sound, so he profiles as a genuine contender for the minors with winning upside if he handles this venue first time.

Comment: Has been slow away and well held in both runs this campaign, finishing last in the Listed Weekend Hussler Stakes at Caulfield after making no impression late. The run prior was also plain in the G2 Bobbie Lewis Quality at Flemington, albeit over 6f and at long odds. This is easier than Saturday company, first-time blinkers go on, and he has won at this track and distance. A sharp turnaround is required, but his best local form gives him a place case.

Comment: Backs up quickly after a third in the Listed Sale Cup on heavy ground, where he led to the turn and was beaten just under four lengths by Makdane despite being unwanted in the market. His previous run in the Listed Paris Lane Stakes was safely held, with a slow start leaving him well back before he made no impression. He has placed at both 1m tries but not won at the trip, so he is a realistic place hope rather than a runner to take short odds about.

Comment: Returns from a five-week freshening after finishing last in the Listed Testa Rossa Stakes at Caulfield, beaten over 11 lengths and unwanted in the market with no clear excuse. His previous run in the Listed Anniversary Vase was also soundly held when tenth, and he is unplaced from six starts in the past 12 months. A Cranbourne trial and first-time blinkers provide some context, but he will have to lift sharply to threaten.

Comment: Looks well placed to bounce back third-up, with his close BM84 third at Caulfield two runs ago showing he remains right up to this when he brings his best finish. Last start at Caulfield was below his level, beaten seven lengths after offering little, but the class drop, weight relief and proven record at this track and distance all help reset the case. Strong at 1m and well treated on the minimum, he has the right profile to take this out.

Comment: Was below his best at Coonamble last start, finishing seventh and beaten four and a half lengths after being near the top of an open market, with no obvious excuse. The run prior was more encouraging in a BM84 at this track, where he led and was just unable to hold on when third on soft ground. He gets clear weight relief from the 136lbs carried last time and is well exposed at 1m, so he can give a sight if he recaptures that local effort.

Comment: Comes back from a BM70 at Cranbourne where he finished tenth, beaten just under nine lengths, after racing handy without producing a serious finish. The start prior was also plain in a BM66 at Pakenham Synthetic. This is an easier assignment and he is a proven track-and-trip winner, but recent form leaves him as a minor hope only.

Comment: Worked home well for fourth in a BM70 at Geelong last start, beaten just under three lengths after being unwanted in the market. Two back he was wide from the 4 1/2f at Seymour and finished fifth in a BM66. The grade relief helps, but he is yet to place in five tries around 1 1/2m and looks more an each-way hope than a win anchor.

Comment: Put the race away sharply when winning a BM56 at Echuca last start, beating Idling Behind by just over four lengths as a well-supported favourite. That followed a fair sixth in BM70 company at Seymour, so the recent profile is solid. Brad Rawiller has won three from ten aboard him, and that proven partnership keeps him right in the winning mix.

Comment: Broke through in emphatic style at Bairnsdale, winning a Mdn by six and a half lengths despite jumping awkwardly, racing keenly and being held up from the 2f. He had also been third at Tatura as a big price chance. The move into BM62 grade and first try around 1 1/2m are genuine tests, but he has place claims on current form.

Comment: Went close at Bairnsdale last start, finishing third in a BM56 and beaten just under a length after being held up passing the 1 3/4f. He was also competitive at this venue two back when sixth, beaten two and a half lengths. Weight relief and four placings around 1 1/2m give him some appeal, though the class rise tempers the win case.

Comment: Finished seventh in a BM56 at Bairnsdale last start, beaten just over eight lengths, and while he had some trouble getting clear passing the 3f he still made little ground. The prior Echuca Mdn win showed he can finish off when conditions suit. This is stronger, the 1 1/2m is untried and a sizeable lift is required.

Comment: Has finished seventh at both recent runs, most recently at Kyneton when beaten five lengths after giving away a big start and finding the line only fairly. He was sent out favourite in a BM56 at Kilmore two back but was beaten just over six lengths, and Stole Him had his measure there. Blinkers come off, yet he must sharpen to hold a place.

Comment: Returns from five weeks off after a disappointing BM56 run at Moe, where he finished eighth and was beaten over 13 lengths after offering little. A small early bump is noted, but it does not explain the margin. His Warrnambool run on heavy ground before that was sound, and he has placed at this trip, yet others bring stronger form.

Comment: Returns from five weeks off in the right form, having run second in a BM56 at Moe when near the top of betting and beaten just under three lengths. He was fair in stronger BM66 company at Sandown-Hillside the run prior after jumping awkwardly. Draws barrier one, gets weight relief and has placed three times from five starts around 1 1/2m, giving him the strongest overall case.

Comment: Continued his improvement with a one-length second at Moe, taking over at the 1f before being claimed late by Frank Express. That followed a sound third at Kilmore, beaten just under two lengths behind Kawa. The 1 1/2m is new and the race is stronger, but weight relief and Lachlan King's record on him make him a strong chance.

Comment: Missed by only a nose in a BM56 at Bairnsdale last start and has now placed two times from five runs this season. Her Kilmore fourth before that had merit after she raced wide early and was tightened near the 3 1/2f. Weight relief is a plus, but the class rise and first try around 1 1/2m make her more a place prospect.

Comment: Eased from a mid-week BM78 after finishing seventh at Caulfield, where he was steadied early, covered ground and was still beaten five lengths at long odds. The start prior is the stronger guide, as he beat Killenaule by just over a length at Caulfield Heath after lengthening well. Holly Durnan's 4lbs claim helps offset the 139lbs, and his recent winning form makes him a serious threat back in this grade.

Comment: Worked home from well back when seventh at Seymour, beaten three and a half lengths on soft ground, and now moves from country grade to a stronger meeting. His Bendigo third two starts ago at big odds was more encouraging, and he has one win and two places from three runs at this track. The 1 1/4m record is solid rather than dominant, so he shapes as a reliable place chance if he finishes off cleanly.

Comment: Comes off a BM62 win at Horsham, where he began slowly, struck traffic in the straight and still finished strongly to beat First Innings by a head. This is stronger company and he has not raced around 1 1/4m before, so the rise in distance is the obvious test. Two wins from four starts this season is a genuine positive, but he has to convert that momentum under tougher conditions.

Comment: Backs up quickly after being beaten just under nine lengths in a Cranbourne BM70, where he was well back and made no impression at long odds. His Seymour run before that was also plain, fading to be beaten just under ten lengths. He is a track-and-trip winner and drops from metro grade, but the recent figures leave him with a sizeable form turnaround to produce.

Comment: Was second last first-up at Ballarat over 1m, beaten just under six lengths after tracking the speed and only keeping on. His previous run in a BM74 at Sandown-Lakeside on heavy ground was much stronger, when second to Empress Of The Sun over 1 1/2m. The Maher stable at this venue and the 3lbs claim keep him in the mix, but he has to rebound from that flat return.

Comment: Finished fourth in an Open at Horsham, beaten just over three lengths after covering ground and keeping on, so the class drop into a BM66 is significant. Before that he drove late to beat Killenaule by a head at Pakenham Synthetic when well found in betting. Barrier one suits his on-pace pattern, though three unplaced runs at this venue keep the winning case slightly qualified.

Comment: Was second last at Seymour, beaten seven and a half lengths on soft ground after covering ground and failing to make inroads at long odds. The Cranbourne fourth two starts ago was better, as he came from well back and was beaten just over a length despite being unwanted in the market. Four unplaced attempts around 1 1/4m are the concern, leaving him as a rough each-way hope only.

Comment: Progressive four-year-old who won a BM62 at Morphettville as a well-supported favourite, coming from a long way back to beat Suit Of Wands by a head. He had been narrowly beaten by Foix at this track the run prior after being slow away and held up, so that form stacks up well. This is a class rise, but his record at the distance and improving profile make him the runner to beat.

Comment: Drops back from 1 5/8m after finishing seventh at Cranbourne, beaten three and a half lengths when he had every chance but lacked the required change of gears. His third over 1 9/16m two back was sound, yet the sharper pointer is his proven record around 1 1/4m, including a win at this track and distance. With Thomas Stockdale back aboard, he profiles as a strong winning danger.

Comment: Has finished sixth at both runs since resuming, most recently in a BM62 at Geelong when beaten just over four lengths after holding a handy spot and failing to go on. He did charge home late over 7 5/8f the run prior, and the weight relief is some help. This is stronger company and the recent form is only moderate, so he has to find a sharper finish.

Comment: Closed late for third in a Cranbourne BM70 last week, beaten three and a half lengths after getting well back and racing keenly. That brings him down from metro grade, but his Geelong fifth before that was only steady when near the top of an open market. He is proven at 1 1/4m, yet the quick back-up query and modest winning strike-rate make him a place-at-best runner.

Comment: Broke through in a Mdn at Echuca, overcoming an awkward start and a check near the 1 1/2f before finishing powerfully to beat Meet The Prince by a length. That was a clear improvement on his Kyneton fifth at big odds, but this is a much harder step into BM66 company from barrier 12. The weight relief helps, though he still has plenty to prove against seasoned winners.

Comment: Powered clear in G BM64 company at Morphettville last start, beating Stomp'Em by five and a half lengths after sitting just behind the leaders. That came after a solid third in a BM62 at Warrnambool on heavy ground, despite jumping awkwardly and racing keenly early. He rises to 136lbs and draws wide, but his 6f record and reunion with Neil Farley give him genuine place appeal.

Comment: Returns from a lengthy spell after ending last campaign with an eighth at Caulfield Heath, where she raced wide throughout and was beaten four and a half lengths on soft ground. She had earlier been fifth in the G3 Proud Miss Stakes, and three trials, including a close second at Cranbourne, point to a sound return. Proven at 6f and unbeaten in two with Jamie Melham, she has the right profile to take beating.

Comment: Second-up after a plain seventh at Bendigo, where he tracked the speed but did not quicken and was beaten three and a half lengths at long odds. The run prior in a BM78 at Swan Hill was no better, finishing second last behind Ka Ying Cheer after beginning slowly. Three wins from six at this distance are a plus, but the current form line demands a much sharper finish.

Comment: Has placed at his past two runs in BM62 grade, most recently third at Cranbourne when near the top of an open market and beaten just over three lengths by Aradeo. The Seymour second before that had merit, though he never looked the winner behind Just Desserts. This is a stronger BM66 task, but he is fourth-up, has won at 6f and gets Jamie Mott aboard, so the winning case is sound.

Comment: Went close as favourite in a BM62 at Cranbourne last start, finishing second to Fehmarn by half a length after being steadied near the 1/4f. He had won at this track over 5f the start prior, driving late to beat Mrs Archibald. The query is 6f, where his only previous try produced no placing, but his overall record of two wins and two placings from five starts keeps him firmly in the mix.

Comment: Led throughout in a BM56 at Bairnsdale last start, beating Chip'N'Dale by just under three lengths and earning weight relief into this. He was safely held at this track in BM62 grade the run prior, fading late after racing keenly. The latest win was sound, but this BM66 is harder and he has been unplaced in two starts at this venue, so he has more to prove.

Comment: Comes here on a quick back-up after finishing last in a BM70 at Cranbourne, beaten over 12 lengths, with a wide run and awkward start offering some explanation but not enough to ignore the margin. He was also only fair at Geelong the start prior. A previous win at this track and distance helps, yet he has to turn his current form around quickly.

Comment: Has been safely held in two runs this campaign, finishing second last at Ballarat after being steadied twice, then offering little in the run home. The Geelong return was only fair as well, so first-time blinkers become the key new angle. He has won twice at around 6f and is fitter third-up, but this still looks an each-way hope rather than a leading chance.

Comment: Returns from a lengthy spell after a sixth at Sandown-Lakeside on heavy ground, where she was beaten six and a half lengths after covering ground from the 4f. Her prior Sandown-Hillside run was a long way below par, finishing sixth and beaten over 16 lengths. She has had two trials and the blinkers come off, but 6f is new and her recent record is a clear concern.

Comment: Had little go right in the Listed Gothic Stakes at Caulfield, jumping awkwardly and covering ground before finishing last, beaten seven and a half lengths. The start prior she was a well-supported favourite and beat Sihaya by just over four lengths in a Mdn at Pakenham Synthetic. Back from Open company to BM66, drawn barrier 1 and with a top-ranked track stable, she can rebound strongly.

Comment: Returns from a lengthy spell after finishing fourth at Pakenham, beaten three and a half lengths, when slow away and unable to quicken on heavy ground. He had won a Mdn at this venue before that, narrowly beating Doralee over 5f, and his latest trial third at Mornington is useful fitness context. The place record at this track and distance is tidy, but one win from 35 starts makes him hard to sell as a winning threat.
